

COVETED

EDITION
THE ULTIMATE COLLECTOR'S LUXURY&DESIGN MAGAZINE

LET'S DISCOVER ANTONIO CITTERIO'S FIRST CONDO PROJECT IN THE USA

THURSDAY 18 JULY 2019

Antonio Citterio is a name that immediately captures the attention of any design enthusiasts. Be it due to his furniture, design or architecture initiatives there's no doubt that he is one of the top names among worldwide contemporary interior designers. Arte, a coveted area located north of Miami Beach, is still in development yet already set to commence its first closings this summer. CovetED will be taking you through a little tour through a preview of an ambitious project set to give a whole new dynamic to a very active area.

Photo credits: Arte Surfside

Photo credits: Arte Surfside

It's no surprise that Antonio Citterio is once again involved in an ambitious architecture project. Considering his work in regards to his take on the Bulgari and Mandarin Oriental hospitality projects in Dubai, London, Milan and Bali, Arte is sure to be a unique take on the hospitality sector.

Photo credits: Arte Surfside

Photo credits: Arte Surfside

Arte by Antonio Citterio is located at 8955 Collins Avenue in Surfside, an area between Indian Creek, Bay Harbor Islands and Bal Harbour. It will be having a set of residences which will be having three to five bedroom residences range. From the images of the conceptual art of the project, it will be heavily based on the Mediterranean lifestyle.

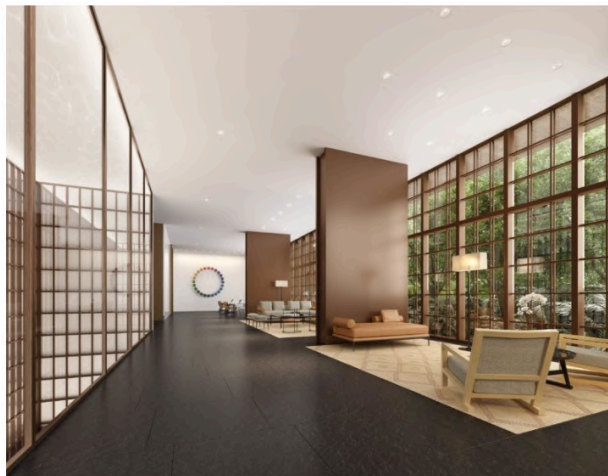

Photo credits: Arte Surfside

Among some of the most relevant details that definitely captured our attention our eyes were set on the wide terraces that blend beautifully into the beach scenarios, as well as the lovely kitchens featuring quality elements such as Poliform cabinetry, Italian marble countertops and Gaggenau appliances. On the outside sculpture by Robert Indiana will be displayed along with "Polychromatic Chronology," a work by Danish-Icelandic artist Olafur Eliasson.

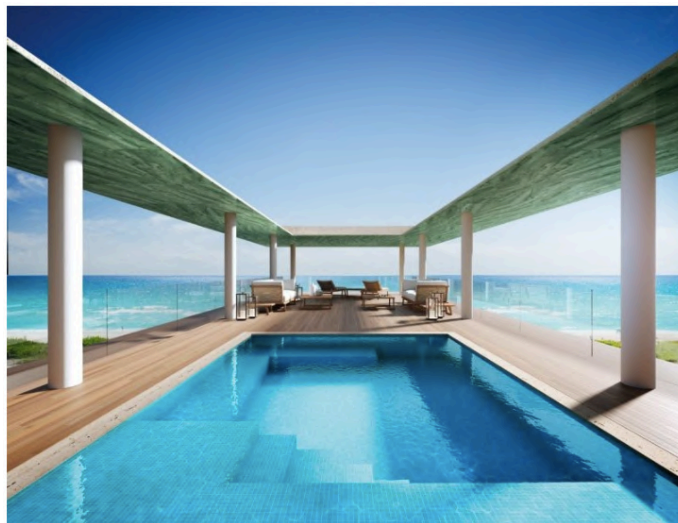

Photo credits: Arte Surfside

Among the amenities we can point to two swimming pools (one 75' indoor and another located outdoors), a fitness centre, a yoga studio, a rooftop tennis court, along with a steam room, sauna and a meditation pond to relax after activities. Parents will also be able to take their kids to a playroom while at the same time enjoying a little game of billard.

Photo credits: Arte Surfside